

JoAnne Bushby

JoAnne Bushby is an independent consultant providing training, facilitation and technical assistance in the education, health and social service arenas. She is currently serving as the Executive Director of the El Cajon Collaborative.

In a variety of venues, she has developed, implemented and managed a broad range of programs designed to support children and their families. She has an extensive list of current and past memberships and appointments to commissions, advisory boards, and committees related to child, family and community well being.

A former school site and district level administrator, Ms. Bushby holds a Bachelors Degree in Nursing Science and a Masters in Educational Administration.